The study identified the effects of COVID-19 Pandemic to the former employees of waterparks resort in City of Biñan, Laguna. 1.) It aimed to know the demographic profile of the former employees; 2) determine the effects of Pandemic in terms of: a) financial aspect, b) mental aspect, c) physical aspect, d) emotional aspect, e) spiritual aspect; and 3) to propose recommendation based on the findings of the study.

The method of research used by the researchers was quantitative research method for data gathering. The researchers conducted a survey and distributed the questionnaires to the (50) fifty random former employees of waterparks from May 2020 to May 2021.

Based on the findings of the study former employees have their own ability on how to cope up for possible outcome of this Pandemic. Because of this former employees tend to overthink on what will happen after Pandemic. But because of this they learned how to manage their expenses wisely, they learned to take care of themselves. Despite of feeling sad because they cannot do, they usually do before Pandemic, they didn't expect that this will gave them more time to spend with their family. Lastly, this circumstance strengthens their faith and made them more grateful with the daily blessings that they received in amidst Pandemic.
